CAMERON COUNTY TO INSTALL TEMPERATURE CHECK KIOSKS AT COUNTY BUILDINGS

Through the initiative of Cameron County Judge Eddie Treviño, Jr., and the Office of Emergency Management, Cameron County has secured contact-free Facial Temperature Check Kiosks for County facilities that are more highly used by the public.

The kiosks will assist in self-screening the temperature of both employees and visitors to and from County buildings and will determine if they are eligible to enter the building. The kiosks are equipped with innovative thermal camera technology that direct you to utilize a facial covering/mask while being screened.

“We are committed to ensure the safety of our employees and community during this COVID-19 Pandemic. Among the measures in place to try and ensure COVID-19 doesn’t spread in our community are temperature checks, and this measure will determine if you are eligible to enter a County building therefore ensuring that all constituents and employees when in a County building are safe,” stated Cameron County Judge Eddie Treviño, Jr. “We purchased these devices to ensure the safety of everyone when conducting County business.”
